

Every adventure starts with a spark.

Maya had come to an enchanted forest with one thought in mind: A curious fox finds a glowing compass that points toward whatever needs help.

Maya:

"Let's see where this leads!"

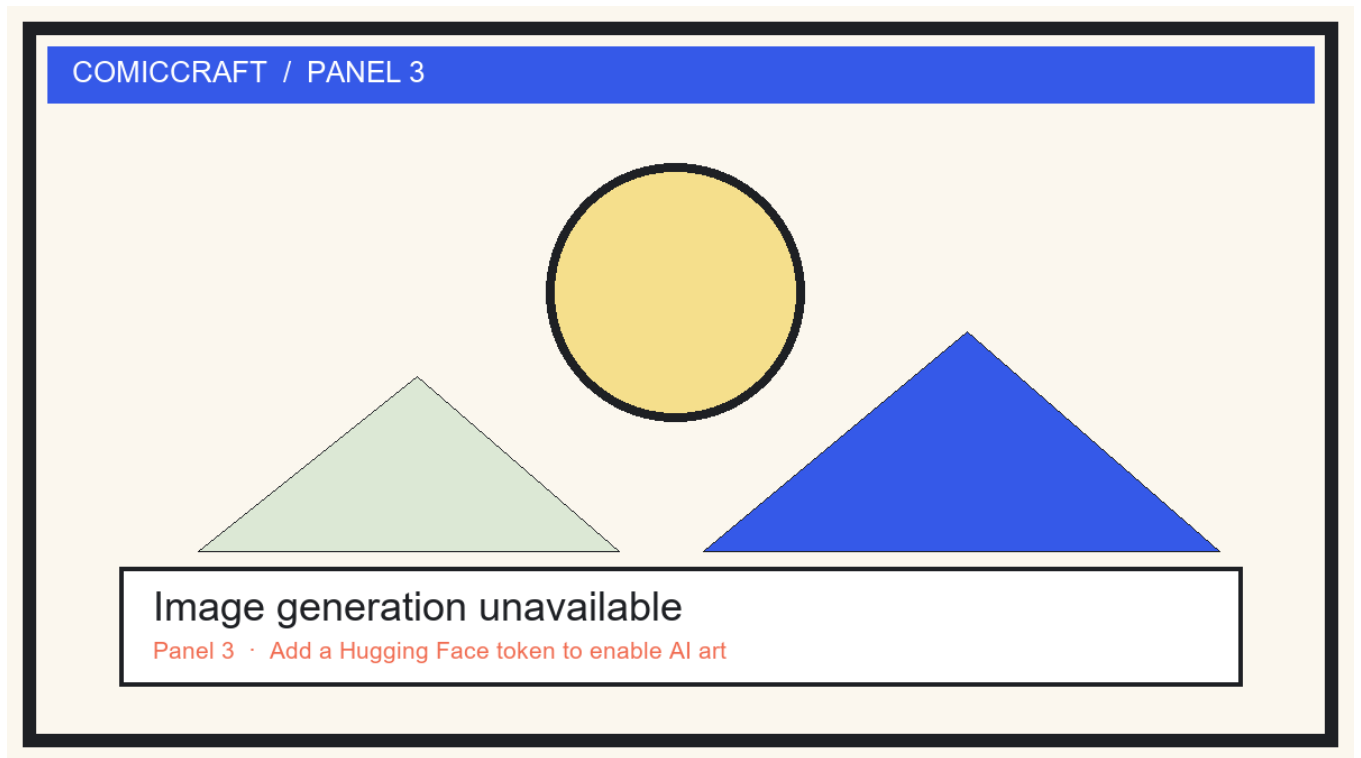

But every spark brings a little surprise.

Then a sudden snag threatened to stop everything. Maya took a breath and looked closer.

Friend:

"We have to do something!"

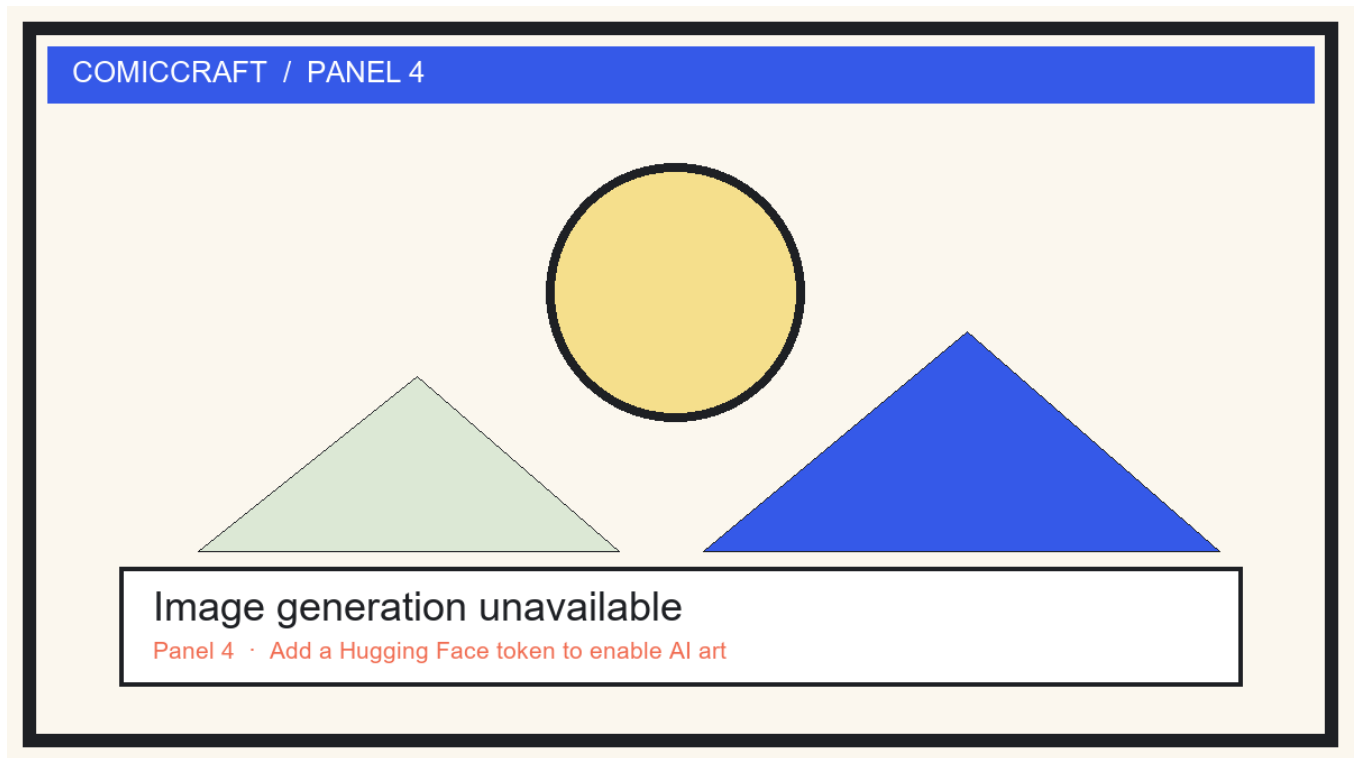

A clever idea can change the story.

A simple idea began to take shape. Maya gathered the right clues and set the plan in motion.

Maya:

"I think I know how."

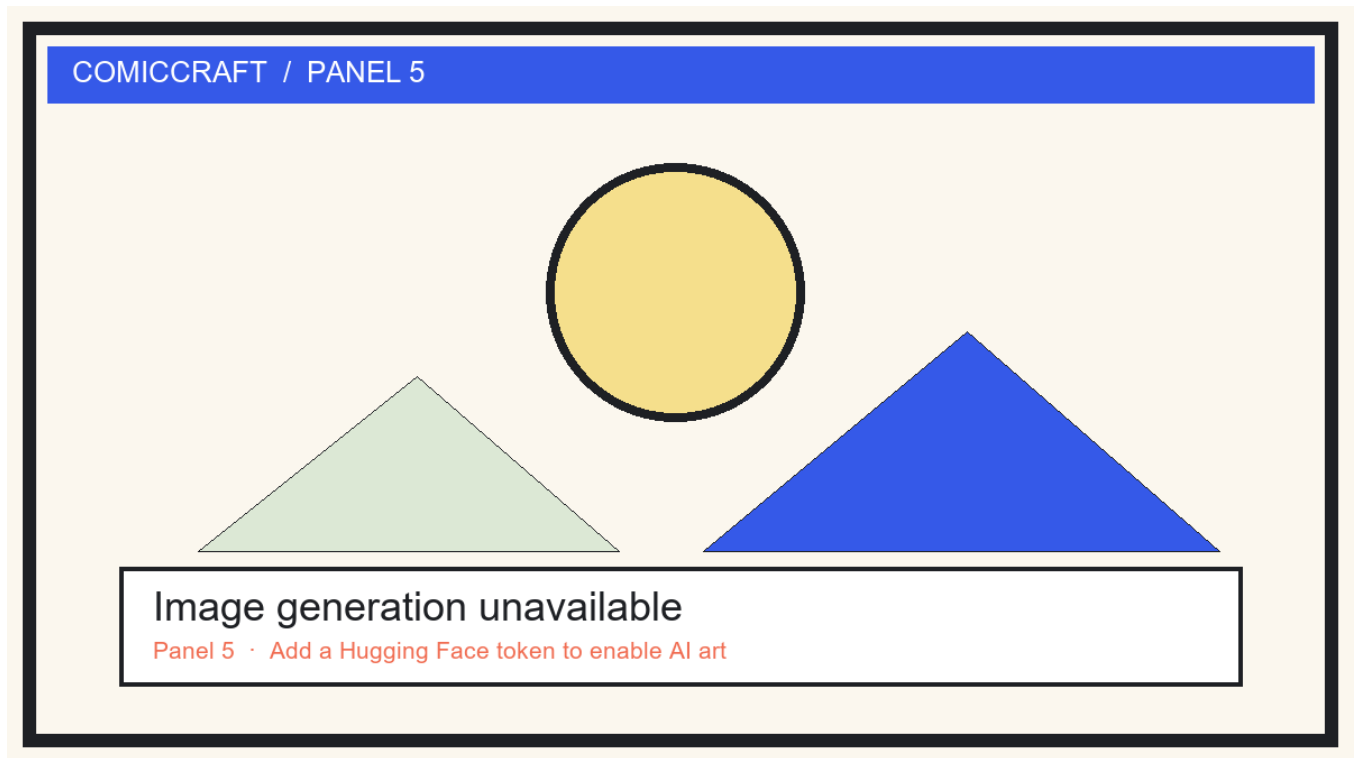

This is the moment that matters.

There was no time left to hesitate. Maya made one bold move—and the whole scene changed.

Maya:

“Now! Together!”

And that's how a new chapter begins.

By sunset, the trouble had passed. Maya left an enchanted forest proud, hopeful, and ready for a new adventure.

Maya:

“We did it—and learned a lot.”